

Recalibration cannot repair the compression even a free monotone map leaves predictions at about half the true spread

